ICS Australia is proud to announce the launch of its upcoming 2019 Indigenous Conferences which takes you to Cairns, Brisbane, Darwin and Alice Springs with a broad range of topics in Indigenous affairs. First round of Papers is now open for all upcoming conferences and being sought for with the closing dates on the 30th March 2019.

The year 2019 sees an exciting new initiative introduced to encourage and help Indigenous communities participate in our conferences: ICS has decided to allocate up to 70% of the conference proceedings to grassroots community groups and partnerships between community and government organisations to promote the positives being achieved in Indigenous space.

We hear time and time again throughout the media how the goals of the Closing the Gap Initiative, The Royal Commission on Juvenile Justice and other Indigenous initiatives are not being achieved where in real terms, there are many successful programs that are taking place in our communities which were not highlighted. Organisations are invited to submit a paper and be part of the positive movement in Indigenous Australia.
